

Brian Wilcher

ITC Great Lakes District Advisor

Brian has been an active ITC member since 2015 and attended his first ITC Convention in 2017. He currently resides in New Albany, IN (suburb of Louisville, KY) with his wife Kelly. Brian graduated from Indiana University and spent the past 25+ years within the healthcare industry and currently serves as a Regional Account Manager with Humana, Inc., a nationwide health insurance and wellness organization.

Brian's love for the automobile, particularly Thunderbirds, was instilled directly from his father's passion after he purchased a new 1971 Thunderbird. "I always loved riding with my Dad in that car, taking family vacations in it as well as helping keeping the Bird washed and polished; thus, my love for the Thunderbird began at a very early age and thankfully, that excitement never wore off as I still own her today". In addition to his 1971 Thunderbird, Brian owns a 1955 Thunderbird, two Thunderbird Super Coupes (1990 and 1993) as well as a 1941 Ford Super Deluxe Sedan and enjoys taking them to cruises and national car show events.

As an extension of his automotive passion, one of Brian's side hobbies has been his ability to learning the lost art of hand pinstriping – his artwork can be seen on several hot rods, customs and motorcycles within his local community.

Brian fully supports the efforts of the ITC, and has been completely engaged since day one by providing articles for the ITC Script publication, participating on the 2017 ITC Convention Committee as well as working to generate interest in the club and camaraderie through Facebook and other social media sites. Brian states; "As the Great Lakes District Advisor, I plan to expand the footprint of the ITC by seeking out new club members as well as keeping current members informed of ITC announcements, events and other activities." In addition to the ITC, Brian is also an active member with the Antique Automobile Club of America.
